WOW it worked, no remove needed. LOVE YOU DENNGLADE! I bought it out through EA, while it was automatically added to Origin, I think the process through Origin activation was incomplete, so I couldn't even add the game to my registered here on the BioWare website, now reredeeming added an online pass for ME3 as my registered games, so I could register the ME3 PC as my game and it worked. And now I can play no Disabled Cerberus code anymore. Thank you The problem is pretty simple - BioWare and EA are sometimes out of sync, and as a result - you see your game activated, but BioWare/EA servers don't know that. The only solution is to redeem the code again, or if it's giving you the bug already in use you have to contact the support and manually delete and re-add the game. There is absolutely nothing you can do if you can't redeem your code again. How do I re-buy the code? I reinstalled the game thinking it had the same effect, but it didn't. You need to re-enter your massive effect 3 serial code into Origins again. But how do you re-enter the code? I see that NemesiSK says that it should not have removed ME3 to re-examine the code. I was just trying to redeem the product code, but Origin said the code was already being used (by me). So I think you'll have to remove the code from origin, and what to redeem is. But how do I delete the code? I also tried to add the game to My Games on Bioware.com, but he said my property was not discovered. Do you buy it through Origin or through a website? I got it work typing my code back into the Origin program. I bought the code through Origin, and when I try to re-enter the Origin code says that the code is already being used (this is in my opinion). Then I tried to use to add ME3 through my games on this site, but it gave me a message that my property was not discovered. Have to... To whom... Ventilation... I Go through exactly the same thing that you are at the moment, and on top of that my Client Origin Redeem Product Code continues to give up connectivity ... Ha! Just as I was typing this I decided to try again and it worked! Now for the big test, seeing if that Cerberus code error is gone... yes finally got it working after a few contacts with EA support and numerous fights with Origin! (suddenly I understand why someone I know is so vocal about his despise thing) Well, I got the same problem here. Just walked into my key in Origin, set up and get the same message. Re-redemption won't work for me, as it says the code is already to use. Also, EA-Support does not give any help at all. They told me to reinstall the game ... O.O. yes right that doesn't work. I fixed it! I contacted EA via livechat (<https://help.ea.com/connect-with-us-gt>; technical support) and they got it fixed. First they tried redeem the source code. It didn't work, so they told me how to remove ME3 and Origin, and gave me another, working code.
